The Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry at UC San Diego (http://chem.ucsd.edu) has an opening for a Lecturer, with the potential of security of employment (PSOE). A Lecturer PSOE position closely parallels that of an assistant professor on track for tenure. We are seeking an outstanding teacher who wishes to have a permanent faculty position. The position is full-time and will involve teaching lecture and laboratory courses in analytical (and possibly environmental) chemistry, developing curriculum, writing lab manuals, assisting with the training of teaching assistants, and other coordination tasks related to undergraduate instruction. Candidates must have a Ph.D. degree and a record of excellence in teaching. The appointment will begin in Fall 2007. Salary is commensurate with experience and based on the University of California pay scale. Candidates should send a curriculum vitae and names and addresses of three references to: Chair, Lecturer (LPSOE) Search Committee, 4-783F, Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry Mail Code 0332, University of California, San Diego, 9500 Gilman Drive, La Jolla, CA 92093-0332. The closing date is November 1, 2006.
