September 30, 2004

Greetings,

Excitement is mounting over our combined Information Technology Conference, Kansas Internet2 Day Conference and 3rd Annual Global Learning Conference to be held November 10 – 12, 2004. As you can see from the attached schedule, we have some exciting speakers coming with a variety of topics. Because we are reaching out to the K-12, higher education, library and hospital communities in the state, we are expecting 400 attendees. Since many will not be interested in all of the presentations, they will be highly encouraged to visit the exhibitors.

We have allocated time for vendor displays during the lunch breaks on Thursday, November 11 and Friday, November 12 and would like to invite you to share your product or service with the conference attendees. There will be wireless access point available for Internet access. The registration fee includes one clothed and skirted table 6’ x 36” and an electric outlet if requested. If your organization is interested in taking advantage of the opportunity to put up a display please fill out the exhibitor registration form and return with payment by October 29 so we can plan your location.

The Information Technology Conference is a forum for presentations by faculty members who received technology grant money from the university. It is open to the public but does not require support from sponsors or exhibitors.

Our third annual Internet2 Day has taken on a whole new character. This year a statewide collaborative effort takes center stage as the first-ever Kansas Internet2 Day features innovative and practical applications of advanced networking technology. The program for November 11 highlights ten projects funded by Kan-ed to expand and enhance interactive distance education, online professional development for staff in hospitals and libraries, and K20 collaborative learning projects. Kan-ed is the statewide broadband network for Kansas hospitals, K-12 school districts, libraries, and institutions of higher education. As a unit of the Kansas Board of Regents, Kan-ed represents a statewide partnership for the development of Internet2 collaborative activities among members and sponsored education group participants. An estimated 75% of the Kansas hospitals, K-12 school districts, libraries, and higher education institutions have joined Kan-ed.

The Global Learning project at Wichita State University combines Global Reach, using advanced technologies such as Internet2, with Global Perspectives. The goal of this program is to facilitate interaction between learners and faculty living in different cultures, and produce the "Global Graduate." This project was showcased on the Internet2 site last May. Faculty members who received Global Learning grants to add global perspectives to their courses will present their projects. This year’s theme is “Students” and will include student participation as well as attendance.

Barrage, a musical group from Canada, is coming to town to give a concert at Century II and will take time out to deliver a master class to this year's String Improvisation Day. They will provide a musical performance jointly with musicians at MIT's Media Laboratory and the prestigious Berklee Music College in Boston.

Attendees will hear about our first K-12 global learning project that involved senior high school students at Maize High School and their peers in Kigali, Rwanda. This project was made possible by the Global Nomads Group.

Global Learning Conference attendees will be able to interact with WSU collaborators in Rwanda, Australia, Canada, Nigeria and Germany using the latest videoconferencing technology. Topics will range across the disciplines of music performance, communicative disorders and sciences, educational leadership, women in Africa and international business.
