Abstract:
In this talk we show that dynamically defined quantities such as the topological pressure and the entropy are determined solely by periodic orbits with sufficiently strong hyperbolic behavior. Here we consider nonuniformly hyperbolic dynamical systems such as diffeomorphisms which preserve hyperbolic probability measures.