Applications for degree-bound students are accepted for both fall and spring admission. Applicants choosing to apply for acceptance in the Graduate Certificate in Public Health program must follow the admission requirements as follows:

1. Applicants must hold a regionally accredited bachelor's degree.

2. Applicants must also have a grade point average of 2.75 (on a 4.00 scale) in their last 60 hours of their bachelor’s degree.

3. Applicants must demonstrate evidence of adequate training and/or experience in a related field; this includes a degree in a recognized health profession or one year minimum of health-related work experience.

4. International students only — must have a score of 570 or above on the TOEFL exam; the score must be no more than two years old at the time it is reviewed.

To receive more information concerning the graduate admission process, application forms or the status of an application for admission, as well as other general graduate school matters contact:

Graduate Studies at WSU
Graduate School Admission Requirements
Apply On-line

Students applying to just the Graduate Certificate in Public Health should apply as non-degree seeking.