Report the Assault

Reporting the assault to law enforcement is your choice. Many factors may weigh into your decision to report or not to report the assault. There is no right way to handle the effects of a sexual assault. If you decide to report the assault, see the options below for reporting.
University Police Department
Dial 9-1-1 from any campus telephone for immediate help or 316-978-3450 from cell or non-university phone.
Local Police Department 9-1-1
Victims of sexual assault may receive transport to and from the hospital by our local law enforcement agencies.
University Behavioral Intervention Team (UBIT)
An incident report form can be filled out online, anonymously by assault victim, witness or friend.
Natasha Stephens 316-978-5177
Title IX coordinator.
Matthew Johnston  316-978-6123
Associate Director of Human Resources. If you have a complaint against a WSU employee or visitor.
Mandy Hambleton  316-978-6681
Assistant Vice President for Student Advocacy, Intervention and Accountability. If you have a complaint against a WSU student.

Know Your Rights

Title IX requires Wichita State University to address sexual violence.
Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits sex discrimination—which includes sexual violence—in educational programs and activities. All public and private schools, school districts, colleges and universities receiving federal funds must comply with Title IX.

Accommodations are available for students and employees. Students who desire assistance in changing housing arrangements are encouraged to contact the Office of University Housing for help with this matter. Academic assistance is provided through the dean's office of the students' academic college. Other assistance of a more general nature is available through the Dean of Student’s Office. Refer to Policy 8.16/Sexual Misconduct for further information. Employees requiring accommodations should contact Human Resources.

Personal Safety/Protection Orders
To receive assistance in obtaining restraining order (protection from abuse/stalking orders) and, in some cases, legal help, low-income individuals may qualify to get an attorney to represent them for free in certain situations.

Revised March 2015
If you have been the victim of sexual misconduct, rape, acquaintance rape, domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault or stalking - Here is What You Can Do

You are not to blame. It is never the victim’s/survivor’s fault. Nothing you did can cause sexual misconduct, including having a prior relationship with the person or using alcohol and/or drugs.

Get to a safe place as soon as you can.
Call someone you can trust and who can be with you, such as a family member or a friend.

Get support. Wichita State University and the Wichita community offer a wide range of support and assistance services.

Report the incident. Call 911 to report to police if you are in danger or need immediate medical attention. Filing a report does not mean you are pressing charges, and no legal action will be taken without your permission.

Protect your health. Get medical attention as soon as possible at a local emergency room. Local police, University police, or WSU Health Services will help you get medical assistance. A full physical exam will help assure that any injuries will be identified and treated. The health care provider will discuss with you any concerns about possible pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. Evidence can be collected and stored if you need time to decide whether or not you want to report the crime.

Policies and Procedures
In addition to Title IX, Wichita State University’s Student Code of Conduct along with it’s Nondiscrimination and Anti-harassment Policy prohibits sex discrimination, sexual harassment and sexual violence of any kind. Retaliation against anyone who makes a complain or who participates in any complaint-related process is not tolerated.

The Process
Wichita State University has equitable procedures in place to promptly, thoroughly and fairly address concerns and complaints of harassment or discrimination while being mindful of the rights and unique needs of all parties and of due process. Both parties have an opportunity to meet (separately) with a Title IX Coordinator or Title IX Deputy Coordinator to present their perspectives, provide witnesses or information, to bring an advisor to the meeting, to ask questions and seek clarification. After a review of the information and facts of the complaint, a decision will be made about whether it is more likely than not that a violation of code or policy took place and sanctions, if appropriate, will be issued. Appropriate options for review or appeal will be given to all parties. Interim actions can be taken before any decisions on the conduct are made. Interim action are short-term, remedial measures to ensure the safety of all individuals involved and the fairness of the complaint process. They are not decisions about responsibility. They can include no contact orders, changes to on-campus housing, or changes to class or activity schedules and in some cases interim suspension.
