Attend the POWER Conference and be part of Mayor Carl Brewer's Proclamation of "Professional Social Work Day." Mayor Brewer will be in attendance at this year’s POWER conference during the luncheon to offer a few statements along with a formal Proclamation of Social Work Day. Dr. Gary Miller, Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs and Research will also be joining us in this celebration! Please don't miss out on this event honoring social workers and the work we do for this community. For more information, please contact Courtney Boettcher at courtney.boettcher@wichita.edu.

The annual POWER Conference of the WSU School of Social Work is open to social workers and others in related fields. Students enjoy the opportunity to meet professionals in the community and to learn about new ideas related to their other learning experiences. All participants have the chance to network with one another. The POWER Conference honors and celebrates both social workers and their contributions to the community. It’s a time to feel good about who we are!

Participants will:

- Explore empowerment practice techniques to assist populations at risk,
- Develop strategies of identifying self-presence and awareness in order to achieve a more valuable tool of “use of self” with client populations,
- Learn specific tools and strategies for working with specialized populations, and
- Develop strategies for professional advocacy and creating proactive and effective practice environments.

Greetings!

I hope you can find the Spring in your step as we move forward toward the conclusion of this academic year! This edition of the Newsletter is very special and is a wonderful example of the difference social workers are making in our school, community, and world. We are so proud of the achievements of current students and graduates of our BSW and MSW Programs. Our BSW and MSW student organizations are active and involved in planning great activities and events. Taunya Rutenbeck, president of SOSW, has provided exceptional leadership to the organization and has led the effort to bring Mayor Carl Brewer to the POWER Conference to deliver a proclamation to honor the social work profession. Kelley Tubbs is providing leadership to the graduate student organization, SWOGS. Thank you, Taunya and Kelley!

We are proud of all our students, and I am so glad that you can read about the accomplishments of students like Mohammed Anwar, who brings a global perspective to our School. Our students are award-winning in so many ways, as you will see when you read about Dave Phannenstiel and Skylar Joyner. These students model the commitment to service and dedication that we hope to see in all our students.

When our students graduate, they move on to become leaders in the profession and the community, as you will see when you read about Karen Countryman-Roswurm and Joni Tucker-Nisbeth. These exceptional graduates are making a difference on the local and national scene, and we are so proud and grateful for their contributions to social work practice and policy.

Our faculty, too, are committed to excellence in teaching, research, and service. I encourage you to call upon our faculty for consultation and research partnerships. A list of faculty research interests is provided for you in this issue.

In closing, I remind each of you that March is Social Work Month and April 15th is World Social Work Day, with its theme of “Making a World of Difference.” Social workers are making a difference, and the School of Social Work is helping to make that difference. Thanks for working together with us!

Looking for Inspiration

Spring of 2008 is well underway. This has been a remarkable beginning, with blizzards, the flu, and Kansas caucuses. And now Valentine’s Day is upon us, with a dose of sugar latent holiday bliss.

Looking for inspiration as the lines of students build as research, admissions, and plan of study questions mount. I ask the question; “What inspiration can I glean from here at my desk?” As I grab at hand full of tiny candy hearts I read “Top Dog,” “Smile” and “Perfect.” I now feel a bit empowered, with the next hearts I read “Dream,” “Magic” and “Hope.” Now I am beginning to feel inspiration. Then a string of candy hearts with only letters “URA10” “ILU” and “QT.” I actually get these “texts.” I’m feeling competent.

Then an epiphany, as we move through this semester look to the little things for inspiration and empowerment.

Greetings!

Hello! It is Spring Semester. We’re a month from mid-term so the semester is going by quickly.

All has been going well for practicum. We are now gearing for the 2008-2009 Academic Year placements. Courtney and I have completed all the MSW and BSW Practicum Orientations for current students beginning practicum in the Fall. We will be interviewing our students soon to determine their practicum interests. Then we will be calling on our agency partners and field instructors for potential placements for the Fall.

If you are interested in field instruction and a BSW student and/or a MSW student, now would be an ideal time to be contacting Courtney Boettcher (courtney.boettcher@wichita.edu) or Sabrina Perez Glatt (sabrina.perezglatt@wichita.edu) so we make sure you are on our list.

We continually strive to improve our communication to you, our community partners. It seems that 2008 is as good of a time as ever to offer the Field Practicum Program information online. The Field’s website is under construction. Please visit us at www.wichita.edu/sswpracticum to see the progress we are making to bring the Field Practicum Program to the Wichita, Kansas and Oklahoma communities!

The BSW orientations have been held for this semester but if you or someone you know is interested in the social work program and want to apply for next Fall, please arrange for an individual orientation with me.

Also, don’t forget about advising. This is a good time to evaluate the courses you have taken so far and work out a plan for the remainder of your social work education. Please contact your faculty advisor (if you have been admitted to the social work program and are unsure of who you have been assigned, you can call the Social Work office at 978-7250).

Enjoy the Spring semester. Those blue skies and warm days are on the way!

The roots of education are bitter, but the fruit is sweet.

SOSW — Student Organization of Social Work
Amber Lewis, SOSW Secretary

Welcome back to school! I hope that everyone had a good Winter Break! The BSRB Licensing review has been set for March 1st from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The workshop will be in Lindquist Hall 100. It is free for SOSW members, and $30 for non-members. Non-members can pay at the door. Lunch will be included at the licensing review. Registration will end on February 25th. BSW Licensure Review Registration Form
SOSW is in the process of planning a banquet for April 3rd. If you would like to help plan the event, come to the SOSW meetings that are held on the 1st and 3rd Thursdays of every month. Announcements about meetings and upcoming events are posted on Blackboard, so be sure to check it out often!!

SWOGS — Social Work Organization of Graduate Students
Kelley Tubbs, SWOGS President

Again, in the coldest of times, SWOGS is off to a gallant beginning. Our first meeting took place Monday, February 4th. One interesting theme throughout the meeting was Graduation. Interestingly enough, a topic would get covered and somehow follow a crumb trail to Graduation in the spring. Recognizing that there will be no more long Mondays next semester is starting to take effect. Nevertheless, the idea of needing to at least get a 70% on the Licensure Exam is superseding this feeling.

Speaking of the Licensing Exam, SWOGS will be having a Licensure Review on March 15th, from 9:00-3:30. Registration for the review will end on March 10th. The review is free for SWOGS members and $40.00 for non-SWOGS members. I hope everyone who can make this because I am sure this review will guarantee you get five questions correct. MSW Licensure Review Registration Form
Good luck to everyone in this home-stretch.

Phi Alpha Honor Society
Faculty Sponsor: Dr. Tim Lause

Applications for undergraduate and graduate membership in Phi Alpha are due by March 14. Phi Alpha is a national academic honors society in social work and the applications are posted next to 537LH. Requirements include completion of at least twelve credit hours in social work courses, with a 3.5 G.P.A. Undergraduates must also have an overall GPA of at least 3.0. Completed applications must be accompanied by a student transcript and a check or money order payable to Phi Alpha. Application Form

WSU Alumni Association Social Work Society
Sabrina Perez Glatt, Alumna, Director of Field Practicum

The WSU Social Work Society is your organization. The Social Work Society exists to promote the interests of the WSU School of Social Work, support long-term loyalty, fellowship and communication among the graduates of the School of Social Work, faculty, and friends. The Society also serves to promote the professional and academic advancement of its members.

The next meeting will be on March 28th (right after the POWER Conference), 5:00 pm. At the Fox & Hound, Waterfront, 13th & Webb. Hope to see you there!
Student Highlights

Mohammad Anwar

Mohammad Anwar is a MSW Foundation student completing his practicum under the field instruction of Clarissa Jeter at Cerebral Palsy Research Foundation. He is enjoying working with people with disabilities in all facets of their psychosocial needs. Mohammad’s passion for social work began while working with extremely impoverished tribal communities in his home country of Bangladesh. The following was written by Mohammed about his work in Bangladesh.

Tribal Societies in Bangladesh:

In 1971, while working with the tribal people of the Chittagong hill tracts, I witnessed the numerous hardships that the tribal people of Bangladesh have to endure. You see, Bangladesh is divided into six divisions, Dhaka, Chittagong, Rajshahi, Khulna, Barisal and Sylhet. Each division is inhabited by a small percentage of tribal people. Some of the main tribal groups are Jumm, Cakma, Murang and Tripura in Chittagong Saotal in Rajshahi, Garo in Mymansing, Manipuri and Khashia in Sylhet. I worked with the Jumm tribal population in Chittagong.

As a young high school student, I organized a youth forum in order to improve their living conditions. Then, in 1978, while attending the University of Chittagong, I got another opportunity to work with the tribal people in order to, yet again, assist them in improving their social, political, economic and cultural conditions. After completing my Master of Arts in Linguistics, I worked with a non-government organization as a field coordinator.

At that time, the Jumm tribe lived in the Chittagong hill tracts, especially in the nearby town of Rangamati. A majority of the Jumm people lived in villages located on top of hills. They were totally isolated from the outside world. There were no schools, hospitals, community centers, or any other facilities from the modern world. Their main source of income was cultivation (i.e. farming of bananas, pineapples, and other vegetables). The Jumm people worked really hard to cultivate their crops in order to fulfill the demands of their urban neighbors, but they never received the proper benefits because of the stock brokers, and their own lack of education. At home, they spoke in the Jumm language. They had their own language and alphabet, a system that differed from that of the Bangladeshi (Bangla) language and alphabet. Due to their small population, there was no initiative to protect their cultural heritage.

While working with those underprivileged people, I saw the misery of their daily lives, their sufferings, poverty, ignorance, illiteracy, and hunger. My job was to form small groups to educate them about their finances, their children’s education, personal hygiene, health education, and their rights and responsibilities.

Now, after thirty years of hardship, things have finally begun to change. The Jumm people have their own schools, hospitals, and community centers. They have strengthened their financial future and have also sought the assistance of the United Nations Development Project (UNDP). UNDP is working with the collaboration and help of the government of Bangladesh in order to establish the tribes’ rights. Some non-governmental organizations are also working to provide educational, economic, cultural and legal assistance to enlighten the tribal society in Bangladesh.

Dave Pfannenstiel

Dave Pfannenstiel received Employee of the Year 2007 from Hospice Care of Kansas. He is the volunteer coordinator and social work practicum student.

He received the award based on his hard work, willingness to go above and beyond, and whatever it takes to enhance patient care. He has a very positive, uplifting character that is contagious while he remains sensitive to communication dynamics. He raised the volunteer base from 9 to 55 volunteers, and the volunteers stand alongside staff as very important to patient care. He stated he was overwhelmed by the honor and accepted it on behalf of the volunteers, social workers, and staff around him. He is developing into an awesome, dedicated social worker and we are proud Dave is a WSU School of Social Work student!

Skylar Joyner

Skylar Joyner received Volunteer of the Year 2007 from the Urban League of Kansas. He is a volunteer and social work student. He received the award for his commitment to providing assistance to people seeking homeownership.

Skylar alone helped 412 individuals and families to become homeowners in 2007! He received the award at the Urban League’s annual business meeting and luncheon where many community partners were able to also congratulate him.

He stated that the true focus is on the empowerment of those who are otherwise oppressed. He is proud to assist these families in becoming self-sufficient, creating net worth, and experiencing pride and joys of ownership! We are proud of Skylar and his dedication to our community!

Joni Tucker-Nisbeth

A year ago I submitted a written proposal to NASW requesting they issue a statement. Many of you wrote them. In June 07, they published the article I submitted and now I am happy to announce that NASW has made formal an organizational statement denouncing Native American Mascots. Many thanks for your support of this initiative. I plan to contact Chair B. Garcia to request a copy of the NCORD statement. If you would like a copy let me know. It is important to get the word out on this -- NASW is a very large organization that establishes the professions ethics. Their member base includes many schools social workers. Please pass this along.

In Solidarity,
Joni

NASW News Vol./ 53, 1, January, 2008
Use of Native American Mascots Condemned

An article on the subject was published in a "Section Connection" newsletter.

During NASW’s September Board of Directors meeting, the board voted to approve a statement that condemns the use of Native American icons and calls for the discontinuation of the use of Native American nicknames, logos and mascots in sports settings.

Several NASW members, including Joni Tucker-Nisbeth, requested that the issue be brought before the board. In January, the board referred the issue to NASW’s National Committee on Racial and Ethnic Diversity (NCORED). NCORED offered a statement to the board and recommended its approval.

In a letter to the board, NCORED Chair Betty Garcia wrote that "at issue are the denigrating ways that American Indian images are utilized that promote negative stereotyping of indigenous First Nation people.

"The Code of Ethics and [NASW President Elvira Craig de Silva's] Initiative, 'Weaving the Fabrics of Diversity,' both articulate social workers' professional responsibility to address injustice, particularly because this compromises self-determination, efficacy and empowerment of individuals and communities," the letter continued. "The utilization of negative American Indian icons by athletic teams represents a longstanding societal pattern with consequences for American Indians that promote low social power, marginalization, invisibility and devaluation."

NASW’s Social and Economic Justice and Peace Specialty Practice Section included an article about race-based sports mascots in a recent "Section Connection" newsletter. The article, "Oppression caused by race-based sports mascots is a social work issue," was written by Tucker-Nisbeth.

Tucker-Nisbeth provided an overview of the issue of Native American sports mascots, included research showing that derogatory terms are a form of oppression and noted attention toward the issue that has come from other organizations. She also detailed a case example of institutional racism, relating the story of a high school student's efforts to resolve an incident at her school related to a Native American team name.

"The 'mascot issue' is a social problem that commands the attention of social workers," the article concluded. "The profession's core values and mission, including ethical responsibilities to clients and to broader society, demand it... The 'mascot issue' is a relevant social work issue and warrants the decrying of the use of race-based sports mascots, names, logos and other imagery. The time to act is now."

Karen Countryman-Roswurm

Karen Countryman-Roswurm is a social worker and therapist who has specialized in street outreach to homeless and runaway youth through, at first, the Wichita Children’s Home and, today, through the Wichita Child Guidance Center. She often works with at-risk teens involved in prostitution, sexual exploitation and relationship violence. Her professional mission, which dovetails precisely with that of the Wichita Child Guidance Center, is to improve the quality of life for troubled children and teens.

Karen received the 2007 Young Alumna award from the Wichita State University Alumni Association for her work in the community.

agery. She uses EMDR, TFT, EFT, IFS, HeartMath and many other alternative “energy psychology” practices in her work. As a guest teacher, she has taught at the University of Chicago, University of Illinois, and the Family Institute at Northwestern. She is the author of Simplifying the Road to Wholeness, which was published in 2001.

Nancy will present both the morning and afternoon keynote addresses. Her morning keynote entitled: Simplifying the Road to Wholeness will include lecture, experiential exercises and question and answer time on the subjects of: The Healing Stance; An Empowering Look at Reality; Our Primary and Secondary Identities; and Redefining Who We Are as Energy — in motion.

The afternoon keynote entitled: “Images and Perspectives for Wholistic Empowerment” will focus on the applications of a Unified Theory of the Self/Self and Full-Spectrum Reality Therapy. Several strategies and formulas for Holistic (Bio-Psycho-Spiritual) Therapy will be shared.

Nancy will also be presenting an afternoon breakout session entitled: “The Promise of Energy Medicine and Energy Psychology.” This session will include an overview of techniques that employ the Energy Paradigm including TFT, EFT, EMDR and body focused awareness. Participants will have the opportunity to practice what they learn as they experience the movement of energies.

You won’t want to miss this opportunity to hear and learn from this nationally recognized speaker!

Volunteer Opportunities

Are you looking for a way to make a difference in someone’s life, while gaining experience?

Starkey, Inc is a non-profit organization that provides assistance for adults with developmental disabilities. Through various programs, we work to create community inclusion opportunities for the individuals that we serve. We also have many opportunities for Volunteers. Volunteering can be a rewarding way to interact with the individuals with disabilities who receive services at Starkey. There are many ways to become involved, from assisting with arts and crafts or fitness activities, to offering your time at a fund-raising event. There are opportunities for both group and individual volunteers. For more information, please visit www.starkey.org or contact Leslea Roach at 512-4240.

The Wichita Area Sexual Assault Center (WASAC) is in need of volunteers to be victim advocates. WASAC depends upon volunteers from the Wichita community and surrounding areas to provide support and guidance to the victims of sexual assault and their significant others by responding to crisis calls and giving referrals to the hospital for medical attention and evidence collection.

A victim advocate must be 21 years of age and able to provide their own transportation. Forty hours of training is also required. After training, victim advocates are asked to take a minimum of two 12 hours shifts per month. This will include answering the crisis line and giving hospital support. All crisis calls go through an answering service, so the crisis line can be forwarded to your home.

If you are a compassionate person that wants to make a difference in our community, call the WASAC office at 263-0185 now for an application.

Volunteer Opportunities

When you volunteer at Episcopal Social Services (ESS), you have the opportunity to put theory into practice and make a genuine difference in the lives of those most needy in the Wichita area. Stories of need, hopelessness and want come through our doors every day, but hope lives here.

At 16, Anthony was the typical teenager down the street – until he was caught shoplifting. Through the Teen Intervention Program, volunteer mentors worked with Anthony to educate him on how to make good choices and underscored the consequences of bad choices. They discussed the costs of his illegal behavior and how it impacts his family and our community. He apologized to the store owner and now at age 17, Anthony hasn’t stolen anything since. Over 80% of the juvenile offenders that complete the program have not committed another crime within a year’s time.

Latisha came to ESS for a hot meal. She’s been unemployed and living on the streets for some time. A Volunteer Intake Counselor met her basic needs and got her life back on track. We were able to give her encouragement, some basic toiletry items and direct her to other agencies for housing. Latisha continues to come in for lunch, she’s started working on her computer skills, and is ready to start looking for a job.

Volunteers at ESS can:
- Help juvenile offenders and citizens heal every day through the Restorative Justice program
- Help the unemployed improve their resumes, write effective cover letters, job search and apply for jobs through our Employment Resource Center
- Mentor non-violent juvenile offenders to help them accept responsibility for their actions
- Manage Social Security recipients’ income through the Representative Payee program
- Provide help, a smile, encouragement, a hot meal, and a sense of community to those that are the most needy
- Participate in daytime and nighttime opportunities

UPCOMING TRAINING FOR FGC: We are offering a training for Family Group Conferencing, February 21 & 22. While the training dates are specific, once you’re trained this rewarding volunteer experience can be scheduled as your time allows. ESS needs volunteer facilitators for conferences between juveniles who have committed a non-violent crime, their victim(s), community members and other supportive individuals affected by the crime. ESS will provide lunch and training materials.

Training Sessions:
February 21 -
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
February 22 -
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

The RSVP volunteer program is sponsored by the Sedgwick County Department on Aging. The program invites adults over the age of 55 to use their skills and talents provide service to their local community. If you or someone you know is interested, currently the program is in need of caring adults to help children with homework, or to simply share a lunch. By volunteering your services you can make a lasting impact on the life of a child. No experience is required. Please contact RSVP for further details at 316-660-5134.

Would you like to help children in your area? Have you ever wanted to touch someone’s life in a way so powerful that it changes the person forever? If so, please consider joining TFI Family Services in touching the life of a child in your area.

At the 10-session PS-MAPP class, you will learn why TFI is the leader when it comes to placing children in caring homes. Also, you will learn the basics of becoming a resource foster parent. PS-MAPP class speakers help you identify the twelve criteria that are essential for foster parents to promote children’s safety, permanence and well-being.

If you feel that you could be an important part of a child’s life please call 1-800-279-9914 for more information and join us from 6-9 p.m. on February 28th at the Wichita TFI office, 2627 E. Central and touch someone’s life forever.

Courtney Boettcher & Kyoung Lee
Kyoung & Courtney have submitted a research proposal entitled, “Predictors of Health Status of Elderly Assisted Living Residents in Kansas.” The main purpose of this pilot study is to explore the impact of religiosity/spirituality on the physical and mental health status of elderly assisted living residents in Kansas. In addition, the study will explore the significant factors which affect the physical and mental health status among those who have lived in assisted living facilities.

Kyoung Lee
Kyoung is publishing an article with D.P. Yoon in the Journal of Policy Practice. The title of the article is “Impacts of Work Attachment Strategies on Employment and Economic Status of TANF Leavers.”

He has also submitted a research proposal entitled, “Determinants of the General Well-Being of Elderly Korean Immigrants” This study will explore factors influencing the general well-being of low-income elderly Korean immigrants by interviewing 200 elderly Korean immigrants living in Los Angeles and Orange counties in California. This study will show significant factors influencing the general well-being (including anxiety, depression, positive well-being, self-control, vitality, and general health) of low-income elderly Korean immigrants and will provide implications for social work practices to minimize the socioeconomic and psychological problems of the elderly immigrants.
